Jonathan Hurley MIDDLESEX

My husband introduced me to Jonathan Hurley's work, and we now have several pieces in our home. I love this bold, almost tribal sculpture, which is a mix of ceramic, coloured fabric and threads. I'm hoping this will be next to join our collection! jonathanhurley.co.uk

Galapagos Safari Camp GALAPAGOS ISLANDS, ECUADOR

One of the most idyllic hotels I know. There is so much to do, all of which involves immersing yourself in nature – a perfect antidote to a stressful life. A must for people who want to indulge in serious relaxation. galapagossafaricamp.com

Karavanaoke

Caravanning, music, dancing, dressing up and glitterballs – Karavanaoke is a caravan, available to hire in Britain and beyond, that's been converted into a nightclub with lasers, smoke machine and – wait for it – a wig dispenser. karavanaoke.com

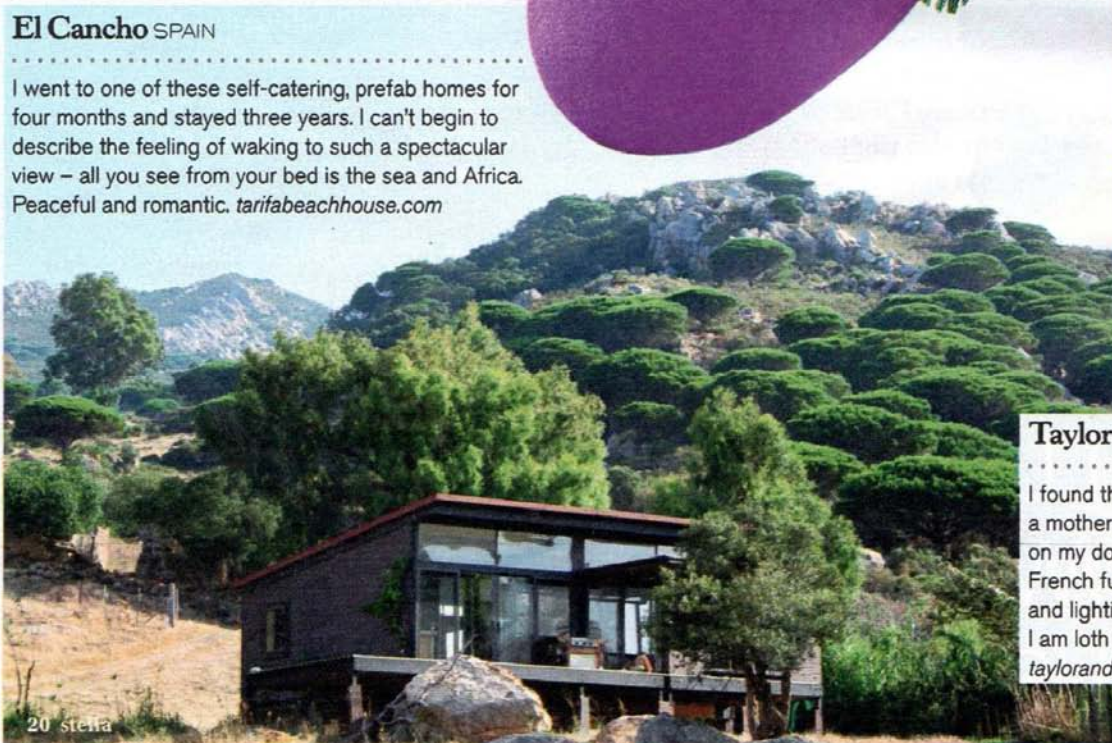

Gina Foster LONDON W8

I wore one of Gina Foster's headpieces for my wedding, and lots of my customers go to her to get things made to go with our dresses. I couldn't recommend her more highly. Her taste is impeccable and her hats are totally delicious. ginafoster.co.uk

El Cancho SPAIN

I went to one of these self-catering, prefab homes for four months and stayed three years. I can't begin to describe the feeling of waking to such a spectacular view – all you see from your bed is the sea and Africa. Peaceful and romantic. tarifabeachhouse.com

Taylor & Bell HAMPSHIRE

I found this brilliant place, run by a mother-and-daughter team, right on my doorstep. They sell fantastic French furniture, linen, crockery, curtains and lighting at very reasonable prices. I am loth to give the website! taylorandbell.com
